Yes for this Hood Love!

From start to finish, I was pulled in by these characters. They gave me so much life! I'm so happy for the Lala and Heart! They were something serious, but they also gave off all types of love vibes. Lake got on my nerves! He didn't even have to do all he did, but in the end.... He deserved to be alone. Proud of Miracle and Mira! Sad to say goodbye, but I know that Author Nikki Brown dropping some more heat soon, so I'll be patient.

Hood Love

This story kept me wanting more. I'm not one who usually leaves reviews but I read A LOT and I had to let it be known that this 2 part series is definitely worth reading. The author has a way of reeling you into the characters and their stories of who they are. La and Heart were my favorites and I love the way their story was told. I have read a couple others from this author but after this series now I know I must read anything she has out.

**Warning: this text may contain spoilers** Just as I expected, the love between Lala and Heart never waivered. They had that pure, real, unconditional, forever type of love, and Lala so deserved it. Also, Heart protected Lala at any cost, and he did any and everything to make her happy. He was the backbone that she always needed, and also the glue that held her together, which was a beautiful thing. Lala was a great friend that kept it all the way real, especially, when it came to Miracle, and Lake, which in the end, Miracle almost lost herself, and her unborn child, and Lake lost his family.

I felt so sorry for Miracle. She was young and naive, and Lake knew that. He took full advantage of her, through sex, by both manipulating, and brain-washing her. She really thought that Lake loved her, but that couldn't have been the farthest thing from the truth. He loved how she loved him, and that she was loyal, but his heart had been with Mira the entire time. She was forced into a situation that was way over her head, and it was all Lake's fault. I'm glad that she finally realized what it was that Lala was trying to tell her, and moved on with her life, because she definitely deserved so much better.

Lake should've just been real with Mira, and never involved himself with Miracle, because he was a very selfish man. It wasn't fair for him to deny Miracle, or their unborn child like that. He should've manned up, and told her what it was, and took it from there. He had to go and make things more complicated than they had to be, by marrying someone for an unconventional reason. He broke not only Miracle's heart, but Mira's as well. Mira and Miracle had more in common than they had though, but because of Lake, they were too busy fighting with each, and over Lake to see it. I'm so glad that Lake lost Mira, because of his transgressions.

Mitch and Wynn was one in the same, and I understood why they were married to each other. Wynn was the female version of Mitch, callous, conniving, sneaky, and promiscuous. I didn't feel sorry for Mitch at all, because he was served his karma, which were both his wife, and his right hand man, Mello. How could he expect to live the good life, and he was anything but humble. The way that he moved, it was phony, and it hurt other people. In the end, karma served it all, by bringing everything to the light, and taking Mitch, Wynn, and Mello's demise.

What a good read, and most of the things, I didn't see coming. Ms. Brown took me on a ride with this series, and I don't have any complaints, thank you.

This was a great series. It wasn't to over the top with drama but just enough. Lake was just plain ol annoying, I'm glad Mira got her mind right. Heart and Lala still means favorites. Miracle had to learn the hard way about Lake???? Mitch got exactly what he deserved. Overall this was a great series.

Great story

This was a great book! It touched on the friendship and relationship but I felt sorry for Miracle because she was losing in both situations. Even though Lala came around I think she should have been a better friend to her she didn't have to be so cold. I'm glad Mira got with Jaxson because it seems like something was missing with her and Lake. I think lake really did love miracle he could of gotten out of that marriage if he wanted to.

Nice

This series is lit. Heart and la la went through a lot. Lake was doing way too much and it caught up with him and his new chick is his karma. I hate mia had to go through that but at least she got her happiness at the end with her ex. Miracle is gonna find her a happy ending along with what she got going on. I'm glad they got Mitch outta the way cause he was doing way too much and took out Big L was a no no. U put ur foot in this series and I'm lookin forward to reading more of ur books.

Very good ending!

I really enjoyed reading this series even though Miracle pissed me off, but once she got what she deserved I was glad. I'm happy Lake dumbass is getting himself together even though it took losing Mira to make him see the error of his ways. I love how Jaxson came back at just the right time to show Mira what a early nigga do lol and I'm glad Heart and LaLa are still going strong.#thanksforanotherbestseller

This Series Though

Nikki Brown.....This was an awesome read. I am absolutely pleased with the ending. Lake didn't get his happy ending and neither did Miracle. It was terrible that she had to find out the way she did about Lake's feelings toward her. Lala made me mad in the beginning but she slowly redeemed herself. Heart was everything throughout the series. It was also refreshing that Lala and her mom got it together. This was a very very bomb series.

Great finale!

I loved this series. This story took you on an emotional rollercoaster and many life lessons were taught. The saying you never miss your water til the well runs dry was learned the hard way by Lake. He went from having it all to nothing, and he had to live with it. Mira was a great example of a strong woman despite the hurt. She knew her worth and didn't settle for less. I'm glad Miracle finally saw the light and grew up. Heart was bae and his love for Lala was undeniable. This was a good read from the beginning.

Really?

I usually don't write reviews. But, La's character was absolutely pointless. Her story wasn't endearing. And she had no reason to act the way that she did. The relationship between her and Heart was ridiculous. And the fact that she was okay kissing on her "friend" while he had other females was confusing seeing as she judged her supposed best friend for the same thing. Regardless if he wasn't in a relationship or was. I hate how you tried to make miracle some villain when she wasn't the only one at fault. And I'm sorry but La wouldn't have even been able to speak to me after everything went down. You dissed me for a female who as soon as her ties with Lake was done she ain't have no words for me. But you was all for lake when he was the cause of everything. The Wynn situation was ridiculous I could go on but there's no point the book is written but I won't support anything from this author until she works on her craft. Everyone wants to be a writer but no one wants to engage their audience.
