When the Sun Goes Down Gabrielle Evans

[Siren Everlasting Classic ManLove: Erotic Alternative Paranormal Romance, M/M, werewolves, public exhibition]

Lawton Thorne neither knows nor cares who started the war or who administered the blow that eradicated all technology. There is a new order, and the paranormals are stepping out of the shadows. Accidentally biting and turning several men during his rescue missions, Lawton finds himself with a new pack to lead—and a reluctant mate who he can't remember bringing home.

Quiet and unassuming, Daxton Roe has been cursed to walk the world alone for nearly two millennia. He'd only been trying to escape the guards when the big werewolf bit him and dragged him back to his den. The attraction is instant, but their relationship was doomed before they ever met. The world might have changed, but Daxton's bewitchment hasn't.

On the run, with The Regime breathing down their necks, it won't be easy to break Daxton's curse, but it's a challenge Lawton is prepared to win.

Not bad at all!

I have liked some of Gabrielles series in the past. I am hoping this one will stay good quality and not go to the shithouse.

Edited:

Okay Sair might have pointed out that I am a bit boganish in this review so I thought I better clean up my act and add some flowers and heart and stuff.

Things that I liked about this book:

- * The teasing between the pack members - I felt like they really did enjoy each others company.
- * The sex - it was super smutty.
- * I liked how it took them a few days to work out how to solve the forget each other at sunset issue. In some other books it all gets solved the next page.
- * I loved how protective they were of each other.
- * I liked the different mythologies that came into play

In the interest of providing a more fair review I have to mention one thing that I didnt like, the hearts and flowers officially go out the window now.

I will speak in code so not to spoil it for others that are yet to read this story:

* I hated how a certain someone put up his hand and said "Take Me, Take Me" and gave himself up like a complete BONEHEAD. I thought it was stoopid. Yes the character does admit that he was a stooopid bonehead later on BUT I still had major eye rolling action going on.

There we go V and Sair - is it better now?????

As I've said before I rate these books a little differently and more against each other than other books. I did like this one though - fresh take on the whole vampire almost-apocalypse. I think Daxton and Lawton are kind of adorable too and I love how they managed to fix the issue of no one remember who Daxton each day. I look forward to the next part.

typical gabrielle evans serial romance. nothing fantastic, nothing so bad it can't be finished. what is typical gabrielle evans? imagine a shorter harlequin romance but with no t&a (see, i was going to write no surprise pregnancies, but... yeah.).

out of sheer laziness, i will be using this as my template for all books by :

sunny day

lynn hagen

stormy glenn scarlett hyacinth

carol lynne

gabrielle evans

unless otherwise noted. i'd apologize, but i'm not sorry. i figure it's about as much time as they put into their books. dammit! well, i made it all the way to the end being rather moderate in my assessment. that's a win.

There's a lot of paranormal books on the market and I've read many of them but the concept for this one...the hacker based destruction of technology...caught my attention. Yes pack life is similar but there are plenty of twists and turns with Dax's background and other mythological aspects of the story to make it unique and creative.

I enjoyed the teasing between the pack members and the fun, bantering dialogue...and lets not forget the passion and desire between Dax and Lawton. There's good plot flow, and plenty danger, action, passion and desire. We've gotten just a hint of what's going on in this world gone crazy and I want to know more. I can't wait for the next one.

Excellent job. This story was very well written. The plotting and background had great unique points. I cannot wait for the next story.

Sair says

I know I am usually quite a hard marker, but this story just did the job for me, and so it deserves and easy 4 stars from me.

It was an engaging tale, with action and humour and I really liked the characters.

I read the first half before work this morning and the end tonight in the sweltering heat, it really hit the spot, and I looked forward to this chance to finish it all day.

I hope the sequels don't trickle out slowly, because I really am dying to know more about this world and how this gang (pack) fares.

[Lawton went with Arel and the other vampires when ... hello! ... Arel et al freakin' surrendered! WTF!?!

Enjoyable but I was left going "Er, but..." when Lawton turned himself in to save the others and keep Dax safe. The whole reason Dax originally didn't want Lawton to claim him was because he wouldn't be able to have sex with anyone else after that, which meant he couldn't drink blood, which meant he would die. So Lawton turning himself in to be executed was a guarantee that Dax would die. I would hope my mate would remember a little bitty detail like that. Kind of a big freaking oops there.

4.5 rounded up...

This book was very Gabrielle Evans. This reminded me of the Haven series. It just has a very similar flow to her other works. Which is ok bc every author has a style.

Good book but there was a little bit of jumping around at times. The world itself is unique so IM trying to understand the goings on and the whys of everything.

I liked that Dax curse madempeople forget him after a certian amount of time, even his mate would forget. I think that adds something fun and unique to Dax and his character. Its also an interesting new challenge that a mated couple would have to overcome. Forgetting your own mate would be very problematic!

Im hoping the next book is released soon!

I loved the plot, I'm looking forward to the appearance of others 'cursed'

I really liked this created story. Some plotted threads made this story unique and they give this series fresh wind. I have good feeling about it.

The starting prologue gave us a short summary of the new situation in this post-apocalyptic world. In general it came to the collapse of all types of technologies, which led to bloodshed between humans and different paranormals. The world was in chaos and The Regime was developed. They started to command and slaughter everyone whom opposed them.

The story begins with Lawton Thorne, an alpha who lost his older pack due to the ongoing war. At the present time he is an reluctant alpha to a small group of Changelings. And while his pack tried to rescue paranormals who were being held by The Regime, they came across Daxton Roe. And from this point on it started to get pretty interesting and pulling.

Daxton was cool character for being one of the Forsaken. From outside he behaved calm, strong minded and from the inside you could see how panicked and distress he felt. Those two sides were extremely pulling toward his character. As he said himself he wanted to "keep up his brave facade".

I have to admit Daxton curse was cool part of the plot.
This start was good!

This was a great start to a new series with a lot of unique characteristics. I thought Lawton and Dax were hot together, I loved how protective the pack members were of each other and how humorously they interacted, and the details and plight of the Forsaken kept me interested until the very end. I'm definitely looking forward to the next book.

I loved this, the depth of writing is getting better with each book Gabrielle Evans writes, I will keep my eye out for the next installment of this series

V says

This is different from all the werewolf stories I have read.
My English is not the best and I think, I would not be able to do justice with a good review this story deserve.

Even the blurb I don't think it does this book justice.

I loved it, it was fantastic, I'm looking forward for the rest of the series as I know they will be quite a few more coming after this.

I hope there are as good.
