Emily says

Numbers, rhyming and collage artwork. A fun and educational read a loud with facts and geographic information for youngsters.

Highly recommended for grades K-3.

Marianne says

Another great addition to Marianne Berkes' popular "over in the___" series of picture books for children of all ages.

Rebecca Saxon says

A great book for learning about different parts of the world and animals. Great opportunities for kids to act out the animal's movement and to sing.

Amber says

Simple text introduces the readers to animals that live on mountains all around the world! From yaks to mountain lions and eagles that soar readers will become engaged as they count the various animals and as a bonus, if you know the tune that this book is set to then everyone can sing along! Plus there are hidden animals that you can spot on the pages! And there are facts about mountains and all the animals in the book! In addition, I really enjoy the cut paper illustrations! This book has more features than your car!

Numbers 1-10 are covered using mountain animals from all over the globe. Text rhymes and can be sung to the tune of "Over in the Meadow," and the music is included in the back matter.

Cut paper collage artwork is stunning. My favorite spread is the one that features the yaks (excellent paper choices there).

Back matter is plentiful and includes facts about mountains, brief blurbs of info on the hidden animals in the book, more info on the animals featured in text, extension activities, and illustrator tips.

Highly recommended for readers who like learning about unique animals (aka animals that aren't often featured in picture books) and nature enthusiasts. PreK-2+.

Bethe says

Delightfully illustrated counting song (music score in back) about animal babies that live on mountains. Hidden in each page is another animal that lives in that habitat. Maps, numbers, animal & mountain facts at the end could almost qualify the book as NF.

B says

Great sing along book with cute illustrations. Perfect for young kids to learn while having fun.

I won this on goodreads first reads giveaway.

Donna Mork says

Cute and factual book about various animals and where they live. Includes a map and back matter on each species, plus some seek and find of hidden animals throughout.

Kendra says

Even though some of the rhymes are little interesting, this is a fabulous one for vocabulary and learning a little about some animals around the world through song.

Jen says

This book has gorgeous pictures. The animals and information about them are a wonderful experience to open children's eyes to the greater world around them. I really enjoyed reading this book with my children.

I received a free copy of this book though Goodreads First Reads.

Bethany says

Counting, discovering new lands and singing...you can't ask for more!

Barbara says

There are countless chanting songs based on "Over in the Meadow," all of which encourage youngsters to sing along and note the natural world around them. In this case, they learn about some of the animals, including an eagle and a gorilla, among others for a total of 20 different animals, and what they eat. Not only that, but they learn to count and have a quick geography lesson since all seven continents are represented here. I also like the fact that readers learn the proper name for the baby animals of each species shown here. The lovely collage illustrations also contain hidden animals so that readers will want to return to the book's pages to identify what's in hiding. This one is perfect for an elementary science classroom.

Amanda says

Great illustrations and good information given about many different animal species that live on mountains. Good for learning counting skills, geography, and animal biology. Includes a hidden animal on each page. Fun!

Suzanne Kunz Williams says

I remember my mom singing me to sleep with the song Over in the Meadow. And because of that it has always been one of my favorite songs. We love this series of books that put a more world traveler twist on the old song.

**Talking points - which was your favorite animal in the book? Which place would you most like to visit?
