The Mystery of Marie RogSt . . Frontispiece "There, at some obscure wharf, he would have leaped on land." The Mystery of Marie RogSt .... 70 "He tore it, made it fast about the neck, and so dragged his victim to the brink of the river." "Upon its head, with red, extended mouth and solitary eye of fire, sat the hideous beast" The Pit and the Pendulum .... 96 Down--steadily down it crept" The Tell-Tale Heart "I then took up three planks from the flooring of the chamber, and deposited all between the scantlings." no The Gold Bug "Here again he made an anxious examination of the paper." 120 The Spectacles 222 "Meantime I sank aghast into the chair which she had vacated." The Mystery of Marie Roget' A SEQUEL TO "THE MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE." Es gibt eine Reihe idealischer Begebenheiten, die der Wirklichkeit parallel lauft. Seltener fallen sie zusammen. Menschen und Zufälle modifizieren gewöhnlich die ideale Begebenheit, so dass sie unvollkommen erscheint, und ihre Folgen gleichfalls unvollkommen sind. So bei der Reformation; statt des Protestantismus kam das Lutherthum hervor. There are ideal series of events which run parallel with the real ones. They rarely coincide. Men and circumstances generally modify the ideal train of events, so that it seems imperfect, and its consequences are equally imperfect. Thus with the Reformation; instead of Protestantism came Lutheranism.--Novalis (nom de plume of Von Hardenburg) . Moralische Ansichten, HERE are few persons, even among the calmest thinkers, who have not occasionally been startled into a vague yet thrilling halfcredence in the supernatural by coincidences of so 1 Upon the original publication of Mark Roget the foot-notes now appended were considered unnecessary; but the lapse of several years since Vol. V.--I. I love this book. The poems in this book are so twisted and dark, I love poems like this. I love the extremely dark and no happiness in poems. It makes the poems seem more real to me and not so fantasyish and un-real. Love it, love it, and love it. I also love the fact that I can not sleep at night after reading some of these poems because they are so scary and again, makes it feel so realistic. Then he has his romantic, sweet and sad poems which I love as well. I can feel the emotions in all of ...more

I was kind of ho hum on this one and liked volumes 1-4 better. It's not that I found the stories bad or poor but just seemed to like the other volumes a bit more. My favorite from this collection was 'Some words with a mummy'
