His Kind of Perfect Kinsley Gibb

A Sugar Bay Novel

51K word novel

Perfection is hard work and after a lifetime in its pursuit, what does Anabelle Broussard have for her troubles? Nothing but being single, stressed and sexually frustrated.

According to her mother, Derek Wheaton, Anabelle's sexy vendor, won't do at all as a suitor because he's too young, too hot and entirely too inappropriate. Between Anabelle's matchmaking mother, her best friend and a stint on Cupid's Match.com, Anabelle's man drought has finally come to an end. But with three possibilities, what's a good girl to do?

Ever since he moved to Sugar Bay, Derek has been in lust with Anabelle. For a year, he's watched her focused drive for perfection and heeded her "hands off" vibe, but now the vibe has changed to a "heck yeah" green light.

But will she let him in long enough for him to convince her she is his kind of perfect?

Nita Eyster says

A cute, simple story of a southern girl (slightly older girl) and her carpenter hottie. I must say the cougar plot got stale. And if you are going to base the last half of the book on sex---at least take the time to change the dialogue and positions. I would also invest in a better editor--spelling and grammar errors were a major distraction.

Derek and Anabelle were meh. But I really liked the fringe characters!!! Anabelle's Mom is totally awful, in a good way. Can't wait for Ethan's story or Charlie's (girl) or even Derek's sister.

His Kind of Perfect is a great start to the series. I really enjoyed this sweet, sexy story about Anabelle and Derek. The secondary characters are great too....I can't wait to hear more of their stories. Anabelle has been the talk of the town since her husband came out of the closet and they divorced. She is tired of being pitied by everyone and finally ready to start dating. She's fantasized about hot steamy sex with Derek, the young hottie carpenter, but thinks he's just too young and she's afraid she'll ruin their business relationship. Derek has wanted more than just a working relationship since he moved into town to help his widowed sister with her kids and began doing business with Anabelle. She has starred in many of his sexual fantasies since the moment he first laid eyes on her. He's just bidding his time waiting till he gets the signal from Anabelle to precede.

A sweet and sexy story. Wish there were more men out there like Derek. Loved the way he interacted with his nieces. I only wish it was a little longer. Will be reading books two and three.

Lisa says

I give this a 4 out 5 stars.

This is a sweet romance.

Anabelle is someone who is pitied by a lot of people over her broken marriage. She is looking to begin again but when so many people have their opinions on who she should go out with. She has her own idea.

Derek is a whole handsome man. He is a carpenter that is a little younger than Anabelle is. He likes her he just isn't sure how to tell her.

Anabelle and Derek start out having a working relationship. He would like have more but she doesn't because he is younger and is afraid of how it would look. Then when her cousins wedding date keeps getting closer and she doesn't have a date. She begins to think. Derek is just waiting and buying his time. Does he wait for her or does he get tired and move on?

A cougar and a boy toy? Perhaps? In this contemporary romance that features Anabelle, a 38-year-old woman who worries about being perfect and the subject of gossip in her small town, and Derek, the younger man who considers her perfect just the way she is, it could appear that way. If she can forget about the naysayers like her mother, she might just find the love of a lifetime. At least Derek hopes so.

Spicy and erotic, this is a fun, sexy romance...a few too many typos cost a star, but if a reader can ignore them, it is worth picking up the book. Looking forward to reading others in the Sugar Bay series.

The age difference never was defined, but never got the impression that it was too significant except to Anabelle and her mother Claire.

Full disclosure: I received this novel as a First Reads Goodreads giveaway, but this in no way affects the review.

I never considered a 38 year old woman a cougar but this story made me wish I was the younger man!
Nice story, easy read.

A cute, quick read with very appealing leads in Derek and Annabelle.

Alla says

This was a sweet love story.

I grabbed it for free the other day and I can say for sure it was a nice surprise.

It's about a 38 year old woman being pursued by a younger man and how she thinks that she's too old for him and he's trying to prove her wrong.

It was very sensual and somewhat erotic at times.

Nice read, nice surprise.

Good Story, but needs editor

I enjoyed the story and liked the characters, but the book was full of silly errors that would be easily caught by an editor or beta reader. There were tons of extra words, repeating phrases and inappropriate word order in sentences. The most annoying problem, though, were the completely incorrect words.....almost seemed like text message autocorrect. At one point, they ate Macedonian nut trusted tilapia.....really?!?!

Anabelle is an almost forty year old, divorced woman who owns her own business in Sugar Bay, FL. Being in a small town, lives like hers are what the town gossips love. She married right out of graduate school only to divorce years later when her husband came out of the closet. Anabelle has never had wild, dirty sex with a man but she has definitely had fantasies about doing it with Derek, a hot young furniture builder that she works with. Anabelle has two problems now, her mother is trying to set her up on blind dates and Derek is younger than her. The first one she can deal with but she has a major hang up on the second one. Can she get past her hang ups, her interfering Mother and only worry about what she wants?

I'm not saying this was a bad story with my rating, but I am adding my own personal opinion in with the rating and I will explain why. Her whole hang up on his age, I didn't get it because he was only maybe four years younger than her. To be honest I don't even know if his actual age was ever told in the book, I know at one point she guessed his round about age. Then Anabelle and Derek talked about a time frame on the sex tutoring and he says one month is not long enough, she never said a month so I am not sure where that came from. What I did like was how determined he was to prove to her that he loved her, for her and not her age. I did enjoy the building of the love relationship between the two main characters plus the eye opening the mother finally had about how she treated her daughter most of her life.

3.5 Stars. A solid start to the series. Derek was the perfect balance between alpha and sweet. He knew when to go all alpha on Annabelle and when to pull back. Annabelle is the total southern girl, very sweet and poised. I loved that Derek was able to unsettle her so thoroughly. The supporting characters added flavor to the story, but Ethan stole the show. I chuckled out loud at the scene with his father and Claire and I am looking forward to reading his story.
