EPISODE 11 - "The Loophole"

A stranger has come to The Sanctuary. The Prophet is suddenly ill. And someone plots a revolution.

Mary wanted nothing more than to leave The Sanctuary, but now finds herself facing a difficult choice that could decide the fate of many.

Will has seen what fate has in store. Can he stop it? Can he find a loophole to prevent the looming threat?

Love will be tested.

Fate will be decided.

Sides will be chosen.

Secrets will be revealed.

And nothing will ever be the same.

IT'S THE FINAL EPISODE BEFORE THE SEASON FINALE, AND ALL HELL IS ABOUT TO BREAK LOOSE.

Oh my giddy aunt.....

This is sooo good and feels like a guilty pleasure that I am so enjoying....

Off to find 12

Laura of Lurking says

This was a big step up from the previous episode, despite the fact that it was mainly set in the sanctuary, a location I am not particularly fond of. Several characters showed their hand in this episode, as well as a revelation of a character's past that nearly had me in tears.

A great gripping episode, lots of potential explosions set for the finale, I can't wait!

James says

Please hurry and get Season 3 going. I am in suspense for the conclusion.

Loretta says

This installment of Yesterday's gone had a few more developments in the storyline but not what I was expecting. I wasn't wowed by this episode, as most of the episode was glimpses into the past and hardly any of it actually moved the storyline forward. Although I do appreciate the background information I feel at this point in the story that there should be more going on, instead of me waiting for some big revelation. I am hoping that the end of this season sheds some more light on October 15th and the aliens.

4 Stars for Narration, 3 Stars for Story = 3.5 Stars

David Dalton says

Overall I love this series. I just felt this episode was the weakest one....seemed kinda short and not much really happened: good or bad. It felt like it was what it was ~ a setup episode for the final episode of Season Two. The authors have me hooked. I did let a lot of time slip by between reading episode 10 and 11. I'll shorten this time between episodes 11 and 12. But there are just so many books out there and only so many hours in the day. As it is, my next book I am reading is Episode 8 of .
