Internal Affair Marie Ferrarella

The Danger Zone Detective Patrick Cavanaugh survived by the skin of his teeth, and was one of the fiercest law enforcers west of the Mississippi. He wasn't friendly or popular, but he waged a war against crime with a ruthlessness that scared his peers. Now someone wanted to bring him down.

And when you had more enemies than friends, where did you go for answers?

Fun-loving Detective Margaret McKenna became Patrick's new partner. Little did he know Margaret had the power to ruin his life and was assigned to watch his every move.

Nothing had prepared them for an attraction ocean deep -- and just as forbidden. While Patrick tried to fight against their love, Margaret couldn't keep from believing in his innocence -- and hoping he'd believe in their future.

Hina Tabassum says

Mary Margaret McKenna and Patrick Cavanaugh are sort of two of a kind.

Both have the same regard towards their work. Both are police detectives and are made partners which is put Patrick out too much because he doesn't want a partner. Whereas Mary Margaret (as Patrick likes to call her unlike all other who call her Maggi) works in the Internal Affairs department and works towards bringing up front all dirty cops.

Maligned in an anonymous phone call, Patrick is burdened with Mary Margaret who with every passing day wants to believe in Patrick's innocence which she works towards proving.

When Patrick finds out about Mary Margaret's assignment, he goes off the rocker because he looks at it as a huge betrayal because he was opening up to her because he loved her of course.

For a climax, Mary Margaret's baby joke becomes a reality for her (and to know this joke you will have to read the book) and she wounds up in a hospital where she is informed that she is to marry Patrick by none other than Patrick himself.
