Vrehx Elin Wyn

He shattered her world. Can she trust him with her heart?

Giant spiders, walking trees, bloodthirsty vines.

For Jeneva, it's just another day trying to survive in the jungles of Ankau.

Until the sky ripped open, and the true monsters came through.

Now her world is under attack, and the only place of safety may be at the side of a rock-hard scaled alien.

But he's filled with secrets - how can she trust him?

Vrehx cares for nothing other than the destruction of the Xathi hordes who burned his home and killed his family.

But when a weapons test goes horribly wrong, the battle spills over to an uncharted world.

The planet is filled with lethal native life...but nothing is more dangerous than the human woman who obsesses his thoughts.

When war rages around them, can they fight together, or will his burning need for her drive them apart?

Vrehx is the first book in the science fiction romance series Conquered World. Each book is a stand-alone romance with alpha male alien warriors and women who don't put up with their nonsense. No cheating, no cliffhangers, HEA guaranteed!

Renata Gill says

How does Elin Wyn do it!!?? This author with her brilliant imagination has created another fantastic series for us. I was first introduced to this author through her Star breed series of books and instantly fell in love with her work even though i wasnt a sci-fi fan. Her storytelling ability pulls you right into the story and you actually feel as you are in the book its self.

The author has created a world that not only are the animals and insects deadly but the flora and fauna is too. The characters are strong and colourful and when i say colourful i mean colourful.

In the first book we are introduced to an array of characters but Jeneva and Vrehx are the main characters in this book.

Jeneva has looked out for herself for years and now this handsome alien shows up on her planet through a rip in space and is all overprotective of her. Even though they are from different worlds the attraction between the two is undeniable. Will they be able to put aside their differences and be able to trust each other and work together to fight against their enemies ?

This is an action packed read filled with drama, suspense and romance.

I voluntarily read an advanced reader copy of this book.

Leopardwolf says

What an amazing start to what looks to be a brilliant and exciting new series.

I loved this book and I didn't want to put it down. The way that the action came thick and fast and that Jeneva was usually in the middle of the action where she was kicking butt and taking names even when she was up against the giant spiders or the weird crystal bug things - she doesn't care what you are, but she does care that you leave her and her sister alone and she's not afraid to get up into your face even if you're a massive red dragon scaled alien who makes her hot and bothered.

I loved the way that Elin Wyn writes such a beautiful descriptive tale that gripped me from the second I picked it up.

Emily Pennington says

Jeneva heard two women screaming at each other. Because the dangerous foliage on the planet responded to noise, their shouting was not a good idea. She approached them and suggested they stop the argument, but they smugly replied that they carried a "howler", a device beyond human hearing that would allegedly ward off any nasty things. Jeneva assured them that if the creatures could hear the howler, the women were indeed screwed. Instead of remaining silent, they started in again about whether the warning was true and how they would know. So Jeneva just walked away and left them to their fate.

Suddenly a horrible ear-splitting screech sounded, driving Jeneva to her knees. When she could get up again, she hurried back to the women to demand what they had done. But they were staring at the sky in terror as a jagged scar was torn across the blue sky and the entire forest erupted in chaos! One of the trees stepped forward, a lethal spider creature disappeared and reappeared close enough now to attack. The woman screamed and were useless in the fight. Jeneva shoved one out of the way of an attack, but didn't clear herself fast enough and was injured. Surprisingly, as she prepared to fight with the spider again, a non-killing tree came forward and fell over on the spider to kill it. She would have to take them to shelter in a cave before the other two spiders, members of the pack of three, sought them out to kill them.

Back in space, part of the Xathi ship that had already slipped inside the rip was coming apart and disintegrating. Some of the Xathi crew were floating in space and then were shredded by the force of the rip that the Vengeance was quickly moving toward. No one knew what was happening. Sound ceased, horrible visual scenes happened around them, then sound suddenly returned. It was impossible to function or understand what was happening until they realized the Vengeance was crashing on an uncharged planet below them. The Xathi were also crashing and no one knew if their ship would be destroyed.

As Vrehx and his crew members tried to explore their crash site, one thing after another came at them! Beautiful deer surrounded them – and they saw the silver spikes protruding from their hooves as they suddenly attacked. Even a simple vine released creatures that spit acid at them. As they finally came into a clearing, they heard a strange howling noise. As they moved forward, they saw three women at the mouth of a cave and someone fired at them as if in warning. Would they retaliate and kill the women they assumed were just like the rest of the creatures on this planet? Or would they be able to communicate and perhaps even work together to survive?

For some reason, the characters in this book were not managed as well as I could have hoped. The female characters were downright annoying because they should have been strong and capable with the experience of living on this deadly planet. Yet they were acting out and whiny at times to the point I wanted to skip over that section of the book. However, the action and world-building was really good. I felt drawn into the story line and dragged along, kicking and screaming and afraid to look over my shoulder sometimes! The constant action and suspense won me over and I will definitely read the next book in this series.

Pamela(AllHoney) says

Jeneva lives on the planet Ankau, part of a earth colony. But she separated herself from the colony and lives alone. One day she is attempting to help 2 women when strange alien beings appear. Vrehx and his men came through a rift after the dreaded Xanthi. The Xanthi are some really bad aliens that take no mercy on their enemies and everyone is their enemy.

Not a bad story but it seem to be missing something. The writing was good and the characters likable and the world building was fine. A little out there but fine. Just didn't really connect as well as I'd have liked. But I will read more by the author.

Toni says

Vrehx is on board a space ship with many other species attacking the hive minded Xathi. In deploying a new weapon somehow a rift between time and space was created and their ship as well as the Xathi ship were pulled through to another planet where humans live. The Xathi ship falls onto one of the larger cities while Vrehx;s ship tries to avoid cities and crashes into a forest. On going to expldadaore they come across three human women who they take back to their ship. Jeneva is given a translation device which allows her to communicate with the aliens. When she learns what is happening she wants to head to the town her sister lives in. When they arrive they discover the humans taken captive by the Xathi and after a battle rescue them. They;re taken back to the ship. There Vrehx discovers that Jeneva is an empath and tries to help her learn how to shield her mind. When she accesses his, he feels a warmth that is unusual and something that he has never felt before. Now he has to help find a way to rid this planet of the Xathi, find out what Jeneva means to him and survive the rift.

Action, adventure, moments of dark humour. This story will pull you in and keep you riveted till the last page.

If you love alpha alien warriors and snarky human females entangled in romance and a dangerous environment, then this book is for you! Vrehx and his shipmates crash land on an unknown planet after following the enemy Xathi through a rip in space. They meet Jeneva and the other human colonists while battling the dangers of the living jungle, the humans themselves and the Xathi who are intent on scavenging and annihilating everything in their sight. A very sexy relationship flares up between Vrehx and Jeneva and all the signs seem to indicate a mating in progress. I liked reading this first book of the series.

Love on a wild new world

Vrehx is a a Skotan warrior, a survivor of the Xathi massacre of his planet, and a man on a mission. He and allied aliens from similarly scoured planets are united to fight the Xathi - with a newly-developed super-weapon. It's a suicide mission they're on, and so when Vrehx hits the button and the universe blows up... Nothing is as expected. When he survives the self-administered apocalypse, it is to find himself, his crew, and the Xathi all trapped in a new universe, on a planet full of sentient and carnivores plants, giant spiders, and Jeneva. He's worried about protecting her from the wildlife and the Xathi. She's gonna school him in the futility of protective alpha mode when you're in over your head on a strange planet, IF he survives his first days on the planet. And in return, he's gonna give her two priceless gifts: peace of mind, and love. Five stars for outstanding characterization - Gad, these people feel so REAL it's like you're there with them! Five stars for what promises to be some fine and detailed world- building, as bizarre flora and fauna alternate with bits of human colonial history to create the scene for the books to come. Nike says

I had high expectations for this book, strange new world, aliens on the offensive, humans woman, solitary (alien) guys...

Generations ago, a colony ship from earth landed on Ankau, even though the planned seem like the promised land, it was not, with sentient plants, giant insects and wild native life. Regardless, humans made a home of Ankau.

On the other side of the galaxy, the Xanthi hordes were wreaking havoc; they travel through space killing innocents and striping worlds of their resources. To fight the Xanthi, a group of warriors formed an alliance and developed a new weapon.

Plans go skew when the weapon malfunction and opened a rift in the time/space continuum, sending our guys and the Xanthi to Ankau.

See? So much potential.

There was no “passion” between Jeneva and Vrehx, even at the end. It feels forced, the book missed flow, is like the book has this vast pieces of information that you suppose to know, assume? As for the ending, let’s not talk about the abrupt end; one moment they are fighting for their life and the next they are on the ship getting giddy with it. No idea what happened, how did they get out? What happened with the city? With Tobias? With the weapons?

So many questions. I will get the next book to see if there any answer to my questions because even though the main characters are together (kind off), this feels like a cliffhanger.

Rebecca Grove says

Vrehx and his fellow shipmates were on a probable suicide mission trying to destroy the hive mother ship. They have a new experimental weapon that might work to destroy the enemy who destroyed their planets and killed their families. The weapon could also kill them if the enemy doesn't while they are trying to get close enough to fire. The weapon works and a rip is torn in space dragging both ships through. They crash on an unknown planet. On a scouting trip, they learn that the planet is very dangerous with even the planets trying to kill them. Then they run across three intelligent alien women who might help them survive.

Jeneva is a human woman who has lived out in the dangerous wilderness alone for a long time. She makes her living harvesting the sap of dangerous plants and other things. One day she runs across two sisters foolishly yelling in the forest. She tries to warn them but then they are attacked and one of the sisters is badly injured. Later they run into a group of aliens who help them heal the sister and force them to go with them to their ship. Jeneva is annoyed but is drawn to Vrehx.

Together Vrehx and Jeneva have to save her planet from the alien enemy, save captured humans, get the materials need to fix Vrehx's ship and fall in love. This book has great world building and I loved both Vrehx and Jeneva. There is a lot of action and plot twists.

I received an ARC edition of this book from the author.

I thought this was an interesting introduction to a new world. I liked the world-building, enough to give me a good feel for the world but still plenty to discover in the future books. I liked Vrehx and Jeneva. Even with the attraction between them, there are a lot of obstacles with them coming from different worlds and learning to trust each other. Jeneva is certainly no push-over, she's used to taking care of herself. It was interesting to see Vrehx's interaction with the men under his command, there was just enough to make them distinct characters without them dominating the story. It will be interesting to see more about them in future books.

Although there is an ending for this initial story, there is clearly a lot more that will need to be told to resolve everything. I'm looking forward to seeing more of this strange world and the interaction between the humans and the crew of the Vengeance.

Gena says

[she found out Vrehx's ship brought the bug aliens and suddenly she hated him/didn't trust/etc. which was a little over the top. It's not like they tried to hide it from her, nor did she bother asking. I hated the ending where as they toppled into bed she said he'd lost her trust but she was trying to forgive him. ugg. Space Cowgirl says

Big Red??? and the Empath??

Vrehx?????, is a red scaled Skotan warrior, of the warship, Vengence?. Some of his crew are Valorni, a recent addition to the alliance. They have joined forces to defeat the Xathi?, a huge insect like hive species.

The experimental explosive the alliance has obtained from the Valorni home ?world, miraculously blows the huge Xathi hive ship? to smithereens! At last, an effective way to kill the Xathi in space, before they can ravage and destroy another planet?! But then, Vrehx??? realizes the explosion has torn a rift in space, and both ships? are falling through it!

Jeneva?? is a human woman living on an adopted ?world that is extremely hostile in nature, with many dangerous and poisonous plants, trees, and animals. She is a natural empath, and makes her money by gathering and selling poison sap from a tree like creature.

The spaceships? are falling into her planet!

Vrehx and his crew crash land on the planet, But so does the Xathi? ship?. Vrehx????? finds Jeneva?? first , along with two other women, but they have no way to communicate. After a fire fight with some Xathi?, Vrehx???, his crew, and the women, return to the Vengeance?. It's just too dangerous out in the woods.

Maybe the big red scaled Vrehx????? will grow on Jeneva?? after she gets a translator and can understand him!

ARC Received from Booksprout?

I also got the book?with KU.

This is another well written Adult Space? Opera Adventure and XXX Alpha Alien Romance?!

WOW just WOW

Brilliant start to a new series I am so glad I found this as I have already read book number 3 and it now makes a lot more sense. Such a well written story with far more than the usual one good /one bad aliens species , humans but not on earth and vicious plant life galore, this book is full of surprises with low tech solutions as well as high tech fights and lots and lots of hot alpha males and very feisty females ready to teach them who is in charge (when they are not teaching them all about romance) Very addictive so be warned one (book) is never going to be enough

Pamela Street Gramlisch says

So much story and all the new worlds and alien language ya have to learn to pronounce. Just Wow. I really did like this scifi romance. These Valorni alien men don't know what hits them when they tangle with these human women. The enemy are Xathi a bug like race with a hive like colony with queens. They are killing or caging for slavery or eating all prisoners. They demolish the planet once they are done with it. Vrehx and his group of strike team leaders are waiting to attack a hive ship. They have a new experimental device to try to penetrate the ship as no one has yet been able to do. When the set it off something happens and the end up on an unknown planet with 1/2 the hive ship. This is where Vrehx meets Jeneva a human empath. The story is so well developed that you really do connect with the characters. The story continues.....

This is my 1st read and review for this author and I really enjoyed this story the only thing I didn't like was the heroine. I like a strong sassy heroine but Jeneva I just didn't like her I tried to I really did but she was just a bit too aggressive for me. I enjoyed this story immensely and I can't wait to read what this author brings out next and I'm giving it 5 ?? because of the storyline and when things were described I could actually see it, no matter how Jeneva acted it was a really good story and I do recommend this book. It might not bother other readers about Jeneva and how she acted and that's fine she just comes across as being a bully sometimes.
