Blue Sheep Reverie, Volume 01 Makoto Tateno

Sweet young Kai and the doctor Maria shared a bond that they thought no one could destroy...until Maria's brutal murder tore her from Kai's arms forever. Now, Kai wanders the pitch-black streets of the inner city searching for the man who stole Maria's life. But will he end up a pawn in a gang war that will force him to fight for his very existence? With both a mysterious electronic frequency and a strange, powerful man named Lahti shadowing his every move, Kai must slay his new-found enemies...or fall prey to their desires!

I really liked the story (yeah, there actually was a real story in this manga!)... but the art was not my cup of tea. Still... I will continue to read the series, because I want to know how the story develops.

Very good yaoi manga, i ♥ it ^^

I was actually surprised by how interested I was in the story here. It did feel like the build up to finding out about Maria's ring was short lived but I'm still intrigued to see what happens with Kai and Lahti. I'm a sucker for gang related yaoi / BL.

Kai is tormented over the death of his beautiful lover Maria. He sees criminal underworld leader Lahti on television wearing what he takes to be the same ring Maria wore - a blue sheep's eye. He offers his services as a bodyguard and even uses his body to get closer to the man he believes murdered his girlfriend. He soon finds however that the rings are subtly different and that not only did Lahti not Murder Maria but that she might not even be dead at all...

Not quite up there with Yellow, but an engrossing read with a dark and twisted story line. Looking forward to the subsequent volumes. Nice artwork I've come to expect from Tatenno.

Spin-off of Steal Moon

At first glance you look at the title and say out loud "WTF?" What the hell is that? Well it's about a ring - a blue ring that signifies the wearer to be one of the four kings of Satre. No this is not a philosophic debate, it's a gang in the middle of a turf war with Mynah. So enters our little bishie, Kai, with a heart full of vengeance and naive determination to kill the one who murdered his lover Marie...Lahti Bara

Then it gets complicated. Marie isn't who she said she was. Lahti actually is her twin brother. Kai ends up sleeping with Lahti in order to get close then he gets entangled in the Satre/Mynah war and the Lahti/Marie drama.

There's more story than sex but that's a good thing. When it does pop up, it's part of the story. And there's more story!!! see volume 2

so far i think it is pretty good

The love of Kai's life has been brutally murdered and the only lead he has is a blue ring that Maria wore. Kai sees the ring on a gang leader's finger and he decides that the only way he can get answers is to infiltrate the gang. How far will Kai go to get the information he is looking for and to possibly get revenge?

This was a good start to this series. While it was more of a world and character building volume, it was definitely interesting enough for me to keep reading.

An odd story with complicated relationships. Kai, who fell in love with a woman named Maria, who was killed, goes looking for her killer in a foreign town and ends up finding Ratri. Ratri is the twin brother of Bihan, who is Maria's real identity. Maria is not dead, she has placed a chip inside Kai's head and it does...something...makes him have headaches when she is in the area because she controls digital waves...or something. Not a 100% on the meaning behind that, if it's just the story that doesn't make a lot of sense, or if it's the translation that fails to capture what MT wanted to convey. Ratri is gay, but only because the only woman he could ever love is his sister. He then takes Kai as his lover. So it in turn becomes a weird three way romance. Add in the weak little girl from his hometown that was Kai's childhood friend, and that's a recipe for awkwardness. I enjoy MT's artwork, and have enjoyed other of her stories. Once again, the cleaning and redrawing in this volume is lacking, and much of the original text is left.

Searching for the killer of his beloved Maria and hoping to solve the mystery of her death, Kai Kouda seeks out Lahti Bara, known leader of the Sarte group, one of two groups who control the city with no name. He auditions to be his bodyguard by attempting to "kill" him, and ends up being shot for his efforts - but not before he sees the ring on Lahti's finger - the same blue stone which adorned the ring that Maria always wore! Kai awakens to find himself in the Sarte home, being cared for by the head of the kitchen - now he's right in the thick of things!

Synopsis:

When Judd introduces himself to Kai as Lahti's bodyguard, Kai figures that he isn't needed - but that isn't necessarily the case, as Lahti is actually calling for Kai. On the way to the boss, Judd gives the kid some background about the rivalry between the Sarte group and the Mynah group, and Kai learns that Lahti's nickname is "Steel Lahti" - and he is one of the "four kings" of Sarte. Kai is given a test - if he survives being attacked by four of Lahti's men, he's in - and he makes it!

Kai had met Maria two years before, when she wandered into his town. She was a doctor, and helped to treat the wounded, including Kai. They'd fallen in love, but one day Kai had come home to discover her dead body - and he'd vowed not to rest until he found the person or persons responsible for her death! Even now, every time he thinks about her, he gets an ache in his head . . . He wonders if Lahti is the one that killed her, as he has her ring - he must get a closer look at it! Which becomes even more possible when he learns that Lahti is gay!

Kai is sent on his first escort mission to protect Lahti. The Sarte computers have picked up some strange signals, and they have tracked down where the transmissions seem to be coming from. As they near the building in question, Kai's head begins to ache again, and just in time, he notices the wrecking ball that has mysteriously begun to operate itself, and pushes Lahti to safety! It seems that this has become a common phenomenon lately - machines going haywire! Kai gets into it with some strange thugs, and when one overpowers him, it's Lahti to the rescue, which is when Kai notices that Lahti's eyes are the same blue as Maria's. Lahti makes Kai his personal bodyguard, keeping him by his side and training him - a rather unprecedented move for him, as he's never felt the need for one before.

When Kai expresses anxiety over Lahti's safety, his boss offers to let him sleep in his room - in his bed. Meanwhile the members of Mynah are plotting with a mysterious woman named Bihaan to overthrow Sarte, according to plans which she has already put into action. After making love, as Lahti sleeps, Kai attempts to get a closer look at his ring. But Lahti catches him - and proves to him that it isn't the one he seeks, he knows no Maria - and now his trust in Kai is destroyed!

Kai has learned what he sought to know, but for some reason, he finds he has no wish to leave, despite Lahti refusing to have anything to do with him. The machinations of Mynah continue. Another monkeywrench is thrown into the game by the arrival of an old childhood friend of Kai's - a girl named Sada - who only wishes to take him back with her! Kai is confused, and Lahti is colder than ever. What is a guy to do?
