Moretti's Marriage Command (Harlequin Presents) Kate Hewitt

A wife for the weekend

Hannah Stewart is shocked when charismatic but callous CEO Luca Moretti unexpectedly demands she accompany him on a crucial business trip. Until he introduces her as his fiancée, making his motive clear.

Nothing, not even Luca's deliberately single status, will stand in the way of his success. Temporarily expanding Hannah's job description was the perfect solution, until his assistant's hidden charms test his famed control...

Though guarded single mom Hannah is the last person Luca should toy with, the tempest of passion that rages between them is too powerful to resist. But what will happen come 9:00 a.m. Monday morning...?

Dottie says

Luca Moretti is the CEO and Hannah Stewart is his PA so it only stands to reason he would expect her to do whatever he needs. What he needs is her to pretend she is his fiancée because he wants to purchase resorts and the owner wants a family man. What Hannah doesn't know is there is a reason why purchasing these resorts is so important to him, so she goes along. With spending time together and living the make believe existence it's only natural she falls in love with him. What she doesn't know is he is out for revenge and the purpose of buying the resort is so he can close it down and fulfill a promise he made to get even for what happened to his mother. Ms. Hewitt is such a gifted author she is able to bring so much to her books that you find yourself immersed in the story and everything around you disappears. She may have had Luca seek revenge but in the end he finds love and forgiveness. A keeper.

I enjoyed this one. It had the old HP feel. Nothing new about the plot but the writing was engaging. I loved the alpha H, Luca who had a heart hidden behind his ruthless exterior. He wasn't the typical alpha male jerk HP hero.

I have mixed feelings about the h, Hannah. On one hand she didn't want an affair but on the other she agreed to take things slow, take each day as it comes. Besides that one tiny thing, I liked her. She was not only intelligent and smart but she was also a strong woman bringing up her son single handedly.

This was a sweet story. Compared to the recent HPs, this was quite well written and kept me engaged. If you are disappointed with the recent HP titles, I suggest you give this a try. :)

I loved the angsty H, he had a believable reason for all that he was up to. The chemistry between the two was great. I loved the unfolding of the business relationship between the two. I felt the H kept up his silence about his past too long bc when he finally did divulge it seemed to just come out, no coercing to get the info, just blurted out. Well, if it was gonna just get blurted out like that, why didn't it come out sooner?

There were, however, a few minor things I didn't like. I'm not too much of a fan of children in romances. I know, I know, that's the bread-and-butter of the trade, but I just thought the h's son was a little too tacked-on. I could've bought into her reasons for not wanting a fling even if she had just been some singleton. Just not a fan of kids in romances, I think it strikes too close to home for me.

Harlequin Books says

"Hewitt does a nice job presenting a story that shows the grays that make up the world. Her characters are also nicely drawn, particularly Luca" (4 stars @ RT Book Reviews).

Revenge, passion this has the whole package, loved it

Alex is The Romance Fox says

It's no secret that I am a huge fan of Kate Hewitt and her latest book, Moretti's Marriage Command is yet another well written and enjoyable story.

Luca Moretti demands that his PA, Hannah Stewart accompany him on a business trip. He has an ulterior motivewhich she discovers when they arrive at meeting location and she's introduced as his fiancée....the first she's heard about her status!!!

Hannah has worked for Luca for a few years. Her life is dedicated to her son. She has been denying her attraction for her boss but when she finds herself in an exotic location with him, she's unable to hide her feelings.

I enjoyed the chemistry between the two.

Although I felt a bit dubious about Luca and his revenge plans, I did warm up to him in the end.

Hannah was quite a remarkable woman - I could relate to her a lot. Strong, dedicated and independent. I liked that she was able to show Luca that there was more to life than being filled with bitterness and hatred for what had happened in his childhood.

Sweet, passionate and very enjoyable story.

A Harlequin that kept me wanting.

StMargarets says

This is just a nice engagement of convenience story of a real estate tycoon hero and his personal assistant, single mom heroine. I say "nice" because both the H/h are good people - the hero might have a ruthless revenge planned against a "family man" resort owner - but once his reasons are revealed it makes a lot of sense. The heroine is no pushover - she enters the engagement of convenience to save the hero embarrassment - not because he dangled any financial inducements in front of her. In fact, the hero has to work around the heroine's ethics on many occasions.

The engagement of convenience turns into a romance and all is well until the hero actually achieves his revenge. I was disappointed in the heroine for being so judgmental of the hero, but she reflects after they break up and realizes how priggish she sounded.

While healing and forgiveness isn't often shown on page in an HP, the resort owner actually asked the hero for forgiveness and admitted his guilt. That the hero didn't immediately let go of his anger and resentment was a nice realistic touch, I thought. He's still working on it in the epilogue and that was nice to see. The heroine was right about not carrying around all of those negative feelings - it's just hard to do in the moment and the author was understanding of this.

Give this one a try if you like this trope and your landscape peopled with characters who have good intentions.
