Love Obama or hate him, you will be surprised to learn how many parallels there are between the 16th President and the 44th President. Even their times are alike. Some similarities are obvious and predictable, but others are fascinating, uncanny, mysterious. And, what is most important, the similarities matter.

Written by Gene Griessman, author of The Words Lincoln Lived By and Lincoln On Communication, this is the fascinating account of two obscure Illinois lawyer-politicians — separated by 150 years — who against all odds come to the White House.
