Actual Rating: 5 Stars

I loved this so much! The first one, though good, was hard to get into, but now that the story has progressed, I am really getting into it. I love the characters, love the art style, and I love Naruto's spirit. His positivity and arrogant strength is admirable - well, in a way. Sasuke can be your generic brooding bad boy, but he's also fighting for a cause. Sakura can be even more annoying, but she's slowly growing a backbone and redeeming herself.

Volume 4:

Starting off with Chapter 28: Nine Tails!!

Thrown into the middle of the battle of Naruto vs. Haku. At the end of the last volume we are assaulted with the semi-death of Sasuke. This brings on an emergence of the Demon fox. Unknown to Naruto's generation is that the Nine Tails is sealed into Naruto. This trauma sends Naruto over the edge to fight Haku on a serious scale.

Meanwhile Kakashi battles it out with Headhunter Zabuza of the Mist. This is a brilliant battle, and still to this day I stare with amazement.

I hope that you enjoy the manga that had me hooked from the beginning.

Cheers and Happy Reading!

Volume 5:

We start this volume with Chapter 37: The Worst Match-up..!!

In the last chapter rookie 9 has been entered into the Chuunin Exams. Starting off on in this chapter Team 7 meet Rock, Lee. Who is a member of team Guy. Lee challenges Sasuke out of unrequited affection for Sakura.

My favorite scene in a good majority of this manga is when Sasuke gets his ass handed to him by a secondary character. I don't know where the effing appeal of Sasuke comes from. I hate everything about him, and I don't know why the Sandaime didn't have him in an insane ward after the obliteration of his family. Sakura and any chick who fangirls over him have absolutely no self respect. You effing sheep! Okay with my rant over, I will now continue with the review. After Lee is reprimanded by Guy-sensei, Team 7 make their way to the examination room. Turns out we meet a good majority of the cast of characters in this middle chapter. I enjoyed this greatly. To find out how they overcome some of the scariest ninjas in the settings world; you'll have to read for yourself.

Cheers and Happy Reading!

Volume 6:

This volume starts off with Chapter 46: The Codeword Is...?!

The Forest of Death, teams are scattered about. Very soon we discover the many dangers. Team against team to reach the Central Tower. Kakashi's Team 7 are pitted against a team from the village hidden in the Rain. After being fooled by a transformation jutsu, Sasuke comes up with a long winded pass code, they fend off the team. They are ambushed yet again. This time by a more deadly enemy. Come and meet the big bad of the series.

Cheers and Happy Readings!

Naruto and Haku never finish their fight and the Chunin examinations begin. Both events take a turn for the worse when unexpected visitors join the fray. Amazing story and art, a must read for all manga fans.

Wow I can't believe how the story to the Haku/Zabuza arc ended, heartbreaking. Great and unforgettable characters. Now with the chunin exam the series has really taken some creative and much needed cast expansions. A huge roster of new characters have appear which are intriguing and unique. I already have favorites. The curse of this new villain Orochimaru and how this will affect Sasuke has made the overall story imaginatively better. Sakura has also gotten the chance to show off a lot more, I wish she could have something more special about her however. The sand ninjas all look cool and scary, especially Gaara. Rock lee is so cool with his big eyebrows haha. Overall this book really did a great job in introducing a ton of new characters, setting up a creepy villain, and continuing the overall story.

I think it's funny how Naruto went completely over my head when I was a kid and now I am in love with the manga. I'm surprised how nice the art is and how distinct and familiar all the characters feel already. When you see glimpses of the anime, the art seems mediocre and you have trouble to figure out what's happening.

Reading the manga is very different. This story arc was already so emotional and extremely lovable. It pulled me in more than any shojo I've seen before. Also, the fighting scenes are 10/10. Lots of ass-kickery. Lots of passionate screaming on Naruto's side.

This volume was really great. I like the fact that they address Sakura's role in the last three volumes as just being this smart, pretty girl that everyone liked, but not really being as physical as other shinobi were in the series. Plus, when she finally does step up, it's not JUST for Sasuke. So far the tests have been really intense and I'm sure it's just going to get worse from there. I think out of the characters we've been introduced to, I find Hinata the most interesting.

I loved this book very much. in the first book, Momochi Zabuza was killed and we learn more about Haku who died for him as his servant. Sasuke was also in some danger but he managed to survive in the end. during the second book, the ninjas go through the first part of their chunin examinations and Naruto manages to answer the tenth question correctly. this was whether to accept or reject the last question and Naruto accepts the tenth question which shows that he is determined and persuasive and just this helped hi pass the exam. in the third book, the main characters and many other teams have to try to pass the second part of the exam. this gave me many hunger games thoughts as the teams had to go through a challenge where they had to steal the opposing teams scroll. Mitarashi Anko, the examiner notices that there is a sound group in the arena and they were not supposed to be there. these try to steal the powers of others and they had already killed the grass group!

this starts off with the ending to the zabuza and haku arc and im not ok. that was epic and emotional in a badass way. i loved it so much. we see naruto and the nine tailed demon fox. sasuke gets his sharingan and sakura.. what does sakura do again?? i dont know.

then the story moves into the chunin exams where we meet more characters! naruto is hilarious. i genuinely laughed out loud during the first exam because naruto is so clueless and its so funny but also it makes him really likable.

sakura actually shows a lot of character growth in this second volume. i was really impressed. we already know shes smart but it was cool actually seeing her do the first exam relatively calmly because she knew what she was doing. i also liked that she was willing to protect narutos dream. she really shined during the last chapter though. i cant wait to see more, im so excited to read about gaara because his storyline is so cool. also i forgot how cool shino's power with the bugs was!! basically i just love all the characters.

it is kinda annoying how pretty much every girl in the story is obsessed with a boy. and thats her main.. thing... except maybe ten ten. she seems pretty levelheaded. hinatas really cute though.
