In Love With The King Of Harlem 5 Jahquel J.

Wynner is excited about becoming a mother for the second time. With Prize taking up all her time and love, she has no time for negativity. That is until Olay pops back into her marriage, but with a threat that could tear her family apart. Knowing that Olay's mouth has ability to tear apart the McKnight empire, Wynner is left with only one choice; death. Is Wynner tough enough to roll her sleeves up and handle the situation? Or will she flake and depend on her brothers to handle her problems once again? With Olay popping back up into her life, it causes her to feel a certain way about her husband. Will this cause the couple to go backwards? Or is their marriage strong enough to get through this?

Jah is left with the news that he could have a daughter by the woman who put him in the wheelchair.

Determined to ignore the situation, he continues to keep Tweeti in the dark to avoid her stressing his baby out. What happens when a situation forces him to stop ignoring Zuri? Will this secret put a strain on his and Tweeti's relationship? Or are they solid enough to go through anything? When it's all said and done, will Jah be a father to two? During Rehab, Jah meets a new friend Sky. At first it starts off friendly, then the lines get blurry. Does Jah jeopardize everything he and Tweeti has?

Lira decides to throw out the secret she's been keeping for years and didn't expect to nearly be killed. When Uzi finds out that his precious Paris may not be his, he loses his mind. Determined to find out the truth, he gets his daughter tested. Do the results prove what Lira has been hiding this entire time, or is Paris truly a McKnight? If that's not enough, he has to deal with Remi running the streets, coming in early in the morning and trying to be the Bonnie to his Clyde. Trying to get her to understand that the streets isn't something to play with, it falls on deaf ears. When Remi gets herself wrapped into something that could potentially kill both her and Tweeti, will Uzi run to save her? Or is he behind the whole thing?

In the finale, the gang is back to answer some questions that were left unresolved. Will everyone get their happy ending, or will only one woman be in love with the king of Harlem?

This series right here!!!!

I can honestly say that I have never been more satisfied with a series ending than I am right now! My absolute favorite author has once again left me with a huge smile on my face and in my heart. While I have fallen in love with some of the characters and despised others in this series, I am extremely happy how Jahquel J gave everyone the ending they deserved , while opening the door for the spin off(s)...?(hint...plural)?. Jahquel J, I am soon very happy I stumbled across your writing a year ago. I can't wait to see what you come with next...I know it will be well worth the wait! Sorry for such a long review but I couldn't help myself...

Peace and Blessings

The bomb.

I always appreciate closure. I am so glad Wynner and Qua stayed together because it showed that no matter trials and tribulations are in every relationship. Jah and Tweeti was just meant to be together and Tweeti just showed us we can always become that woman regardless. Uzi and Remi just too cute for words. Emory and Shad remind me of my uncle and aunt that went through some of the same things they went through and now they are stronger than ever. Tweeti pregnancy reminded me of what I went through 24 years ago and I must say you everything on the head. I just had my joy at 28 weeks and I cried reading that scene because no matter us women go through our joy as come out looking like the man, LOL. I enjoyed the series and can't wait for the spin off because I got to know if Manic got the girl. And to see if Grizz stay by Sundae side. Can't wait.

A must read

I'll admit I was scared to read this book. I didn't want anything to happen to the characters. Of course I wasn't let down. I'm so happy that wasn't Jah's baby. I wanted Uzi to choke Lira again for letting Paris borrow that shirt. Plus I was happy the momma and Daddy hooked up again. I'm sad to see the Characters go, but I'm happy with the ending. Jahquel J has done it again.

Omg

I loved everything about this series. How everything turned out I was wondering about the parents they kind of took the show for a minute lol. Hah is a damn fool for real n I'm glad he got it together before he lost his family. Qua was stupid ass he'll but I'm glad they were able to save their marriage. Uzi love him he was the man the way he loved Rem was so sweet. Glad she got over wanting to be a gangster lol.

Great ending to a great series and I enjoyed it. Loved these characters and all the ups and downs they went through and still stayed together. Was glad for Jah and Tweeti they finally got it together and she really matured throughout this series. Enjoyed how the series played out and everyone got their happy ending and the snakes finally got what they deserved. Can't wait for the spin-off, cause I know it's going to be something else.

Great series

This series was great and I enjoyed each book. Mannnnnnn I was soooooo glad that Jah wasn't the father of one of Zuri's twins because that story would have been a book of its own. I loved Tweeti and Jah relationship because she loved him from the start and overlooked his condition. Remi and Uzi had the rollercoaster relationship but at the end it worked for them. I hated Lira as a mother because she was a sorry excuse for one. Wynner and Qua over came their issues in they're marriage and I was happy about that because I really had so much faith in those two. It was great to know she was about to finally have a baby of her own. This series was awesome and I will be reading up on Grizz, Manic, Sundae and the rest of them.

Nadia Adams says

I'm sad to see them go!!!!!!

Where do I start, Lira I understand she wanted to be better for her unborn but in the process she became selfish and started neglecting Paris. Remi what Uzi did got her straight because for a minute she was bugging. Jah he was so oblivious to Sky's antics but in the end it was as if something clicked, and he started taking Tweeti's feelings into consideration. Wynner everyone always handled her with gloves because she was the fragile one, but with her dealing with Qua's infertility something snapped inside of her and she became this nonsense woman who didn't play about her family. I loved the growth in each and everyone, it took some longer than others. Can't wait to read about Grizz, Sundae and Manic.

Book worm

I really enjoyed this series. Jah and Tweeti were my favorite couple. Especially Jah's sense of humor he didn't take no sh*t from no one. I'm so glad that Zuri's daughter wasn't his. Uzi was also bae I just loved the relationship him and Remi had and her treating his daughter like she birth her herself. Also excited that Wynner was able to carry her baby full term and her and Qua was able to work things out. Let's not forget Emory and Shad I was glad that Shad went back to his wife and Emory have him a second chance. Lari I don't know to say about her other than dumb as hell.

Colecia Johnson says

????amazing ????

Omg I love everyone's relationship. Jag and Tweeti are the most craziest couple ever. I'm glad that baby won't his and also happy they got married. I'm glad Wynner and Qua were able to carry a baby full term. Remi and Uzi got some trouble on they hands with Paris. Sky sky sky smh she was really bout to get her feelings hurt behind Jah lol . And Lira is a sad case of a mother smh I'm glad Paris has Remi in her life . And Manic is crazy as hell and I can't wait for the spin off As always another great series

vernesia says

Loved it.

So let me start by saying your an amazing author! This series of course did not let me down. But u knew! Lol first off Lira makes me sick, why would she ever tell Paris that?! Ugh. Then i knew i wasn't gonna like Sky thank God Tweeti didn't have to lay hands. I'm so happy for her and Jah. Remi and Uzi got that good love and I'm glad she realized she didn't need to be his gutta chic. I'm praying Sundae is ok. And did i mention i love Manic lmao. Great job girl

Malaika says

Great ending

Great way to end the story for the gang. I'm glad that Parrish and Jah got what they wanted in regards to the paternity tests. I also like that there was integrity shown with the love Jah had for Tweeti. He could have easily been sucked in but he maintained his love and was true to her. I love Remi and Parrish together. So glad things worked out for them. I'm still sideyeing the parents but hey, you love who you love. ?????

tanessia ford says

It's over!

I knew I didn't trust Sky! Way to boss up Wynner! Remi was tripping for a minute there I was worried about her! Jah was doing the most which means he knew he was wrong although I understand why he did it! I truly understood where Tweeti was coming from! Lira is just a lost cause there is no saving her! Zuri knew the truth the whole time karma is a witch! Shouldn't have been a thot! Olay got what she deserved shouldn't have been greedy & messy! Uzi is still Bae! Their parents are a trip and I saw that coming lol! I can't believe it's over I'm going to miss these guys! That being said I so can't wait for the spinoff! Sensational job as always

Shaunphoo says

Perfect!

This series was EVERYTHING! Tweeti and Jah are married and have a son, but I feel like Sky is going to be an issue in the spin-off. I'm glad that Wynner is getting to experience motherhood and she Qua are working through their issues. Uzi and Remi are engaged and happy raising Paris and living their best life, hopefully whenever she gets pregnant it's twins.
