Kenya Wright is an awesome writer, and I love most of her books... I liked this one, but I have to say that reading the word "Daddy" during sexual play, felt a little "icky."

Other than that, it was a fun book to read...

Giving this one: 3 solid stars

Who wouldn't like to be the female owner of a male strip club? There's plenty of eye candy but you still have to take care of the building. A burst pipe requires a call to a plumber. Of course he's a hottie named Rafael. (Insert cheesy music here)

Club owner Christine is not in the market for a relationship but Rafael has other ideas. They do hook up but calling Rafael "Daddy" while in the throes of passion was a turn-off for me. This was a smexy short read.

Onnica (I Love Romantic Fiction blog) says

No. Started off well and entertaining but descended into a hot mess. Completely unbelievable and the pacing was off. Annoying grammatical errors too which drove me crazy!

This fast-paced romance was filled with snarky goodness and hot bodies - wow!

Christine is a focused, driven young woman, with her eyes on making a success of Sin, the male exotic dance revue she owns with her brothers - twins, Dylan and Logan. After a lot of hard work, they are all shedding their outside jobs to concentrate on the club, and capitalize on the fact that it is the only all male dance revue in town.

Much of the fun can be found in the relationship and repertoire between Christine and her brothers. Sarcasm, wit and outright insults fly back and forth, but you can always feel the love they have for each other right under the surface. The laughs also flow when her besties, Cora, Maria and Denise show up to help audition new dancers.

Christine has no time for love and romance, preferring the occasional fling with one of her dancers.

A surprise plumbing problem threatens business and Christine must get it repaired immediately. The heat level rises significantly when Rafael Moreno enters the picture with his plumbing firm. He's successful, intelligent and hot...and he knows it! AND...he drives Christine crazy. They're immediately attracted to each other, but Christine denies the attraction and plays down the interest. She has no time for a man in her life - especially a bossy, conceited one like Rafael. As she puts it, "...that ego would shove me into traffic as we strolled on the sidewalk." HA!

Rafael is determined to win Christine, so it is 'game on'! She's ducking and dodging - he's on her tail! HA! It is sooo very refreshing to see a man in pursuit use humor and wit instead of barbs and moody sulking.

"Sexy as Sin" is sexy and hot, but its sharp, smart humor doesn't take a backseat. Some of the best lines are Christine's subconscious thoughts. Don't miss out on this one!

Looking forward to more in this series!

Romance says

Loved it. Short, sweet, and spicy. Loved the hero - Alpha male through and through, but was unwilling to compromise his morals.

I want more!

For a short story the gave you just the right steam. And I finished (pun intended) I wanted another round. Rafael and Christine were .made for each other. Fire and fire that paid off in very engaging banter and explosive chemistry. A book worth reading if you haven't read any of Kenya's erotic novels just to get a feel for her style. A quick enjoyable romp.
