A Hero's Pride

Kayla Santomas has never been on a blind date. Ever. One bad marriage and way too many useless relationships have convinced her to allow her best friend to set her up. Tired of dating frogs, she decides she wants dinner with a nice guy as a birthday present to herself. Who knows? He might not be so bad.

After losing part of his leg in Afghanistan, Ryan Mitchell lost interest in dating and even worse, the urge to get aroused. He finally gives into his badgering family and decides to go back into the dating world. What better way to do it than to allow his brother and friend to set him up? According to them, he needs the extra help.

Sparks fly between Kayla and Ryan. Each quickly realizes that they want more time with the other. Hours rush past them in a blur. But when Ryan says something that Kayla misinterprets, will this be the end of a great night? Ryan will have to forget his pride and say what's inside in order to keep her.

A Hero Scarred

Jessie Tavarez doesn't want to be set up. As far as she's concerned she doesn't even want to talk about men. She's just gotten rid of one jerk and isn't looking for another. But her good friend Kayla is hell-bent on matchmaking. What she thought was a quiet vacation turned into an unexpected first date with a soldier scarred by war. And the first man to make her realize not all men are the same.

Matt Payne knew his friends meant well when they tried to match make. But he'd been hiding his physical scars from the sympathy of women and his family. A sneaky set-up finds him having dinner with the first woman he physically and emotionally connected with since his injuries.

As the night wears on, they find that fear can override instant chemistry and force a person to choose fear over passion. But will Matt allow Jessie a peek into his world, to share his scars in the hope for more? Or will he ignore the fact she's been scarred too?

Gwendolyn Thaggard says

Both books are short, yet hot, intense, and steamy. Both involve people in need of healing from physical and emotional injuries. Ryan and Matt have been physically injured from serving in the military, while Kayla and Jessie are emotionally injured from failed marriages. They are all pressured by friends to reconnect to meeting new people and new experiences. These blind dates work out well for both couples in the best possible way.

Karen Roma says

A HERO'S PRIDE.....

Wounded pride can often make the bearer blind to what's right there in front of them, and self pity is a tortured man's worst enemy.

So determined not to be his friends' matchmaking guinea pig, Ryan is not prepared for the spontaneous chemistry that grips him like a vice, at the sight of Kayla.

His stubbornness will demand that he push her away, but her character will ensure that she reels him back in; and nothing will ever burn as hot as the passion that ignites in the depth of their souls!

April Angel is an erotic romance genius and will always leave you gasping for breath!

A HERO SCARRED.....

What is worse? The physical scars that you bear to the world, or the scars that you carry on your wounded soul?

I loved the first story of this series, but I was swept away by the depth of suffering that this man and woman had endured to come to a point where they both felt betrayed.

An unforgiving war, left physical and emotional wounds that this hero believed would leave him eternally alone, while her tormented heart had been trampled by the person who had sworn to love her forever.

Their coming together is no accident, and the impact of their immediate connection sparks an inferno of lust so powerful, they are nothing more than puppets to their base desires.

Will their shattered trust and dual insecurities prevent them from following their hearts? Guess you'll have to read this story for yourself and fall in love with the characters just the way I did!

Loved it

I have read all Milly's other books, the furry, sassy, dragons, dating and paranormal unit. Loved them all. These wounded books were excellent. The stories were so heart warming, they gave a look at the emotional and damaged soldiers, inside and out and what they over came to have confidence to open up and trust and take the chance that they can be "normal" again and love them selves and let someone else in to love them also, scars and all. Would recommend, a great read.

Shannon says

A Hero's Pride- Can a blind date lead to a new beginning for a wounded soldier and a divorcee? Kayla and Ryan are both ready to give it a try but will insecurities ruin it before it can begin?

A Hero Scarred- A Soldier scarred on the outside and a women scarred on the inside, will Matt and Jessie overcome their scars and find some happiness. With a little push from friends, these two might find love and a new beginning.

Porchia says

These are two of my favorite soldier stories. I recommend them to all romance readers. Each book is a wonderful story. Kayla and Ryan story is an adventure of the heart and soul. It is hard for a person who has been burned by others to trust or love. Each has issues they must over come to finally have what they need, love. Matt and Jessie story is just as great and has its own issues to work thru for them to get to love. Scars run deep and can be seen or so deep it takes trust and love for them to come to the surface. Love these stories. Happy Reading.

Amanda Sandstrom says

Great!

Well it's by Milly so you know it's going to be great. I liked the female leads in both stories and it's not insta love and babies. Now don't get me wrong I love it in paranormal series. But when it's based in the "real" world I love that the author can switch hats. One click this two part book. I loved it :)

Two Great Shorty's!

This is two great shorty stories about wounded soldier's written by Milly Taiden. A Hero's Pride- Kayla is a child psychologist who helps children cope with their injuries. She has had terrible luck with all of the men she has dated. It is Kayla's 30th birthday and her friends set her up on a blind date, she really doesn't want to go but hoping if she goes on a date on her 30th birthday, it will change her luck with men. Ryan was in the Special Forces in the Army and came home when he lost his leg in a bomb blast in Afghanistan. He has basically given up on women because he does not want their pity. His friends set him up on a blind date with Kayla. As soon as they meet their attraction is explosive.

A Hero Scarred- Now that Kayla (A Hero's Pride) is happy with Ryan, she is determined to set up all of her friends so they can be as happy as she is. She is trying to set her friend Jessie up with Ryan's friend Matt who was also injured in Afghanistan. The last thing that Jessie needs is to get in a relationship since she had such a bad marriage and divorce. Matt believes that his scars are too deep to ever find love.

A Review copy was provided to me in exchange for a fair and honest review. The free book held no determination on my personal review.

Sherrin Alsop says

Everyone has scars and a story. This one is worth the read!

This is a really good read. A soldier home with battle scars and burns is set up with a woman with emotional scars from an abusive husband. What a story -- what a romance and here is the spoiler -- yes they have a happy ending!

Joy Whiteside says

These are two amazing books that will grab you and not let you go. The stories are amazing and you feel as though you are there and the characters you cannot help but fall in love with them and want to see them succeed and be happy. This is a must read, there is no doubt about it.

Crystal Watson says

Hot and sexy as hell.

Absolutely loved these two books. Very hot and sexy. Both are about two woman who have scars on the inside and two sexy men who have come home from the wars with scars on the inside and out. Can these lovers find away to get passed the demons that haunt them and find love. Or will they let there scars keep them from getting the love they all deserve. Absolutely worth the read loved these two books. Very sexy and hot.

Elizabeth Neal says

A Hero's Pride

Kayla has basically become allergic to the word date. Her Mom insists upon setting her up on them and Kayla has had one bad date after another because of it. But for some reason she agreed to one her best friend, Sue, wants her to go on with Ryan, a friend of Sue's boyfriend. The catch, and Kayla knows this, is that her Mom begged Sue to set Kayla up with someone. Mom is determined to find Kayla a man. LOL

Kayla and Ryan are meeting at a halfway point since Ryan will be in Florida for some physical therapy and Kayla can then continue on to her parents' private island off the Florida Coast. Yes, her parents own a private island. There's a little peek into Kayla's life for you. However, Kayla doesn't live like the rich and famous. When we meet her, she's at a camp surrounded by twelve year old girls. Kayla is down to earth.

Ryan was injured while serving in the military and hasn't fully come to grips with losing a leg and having a prosthetic. Understandable, right? He's also having some issues ahem getting excited. Ryan has retreated from socializing, yet his brothers have can ganged up on him and let him know he needs to start moving forward. He finally accepts the blind date arranged with his brother Calvin's help.

Kayla opens the door and is in awe of his likeness to Thor. Rawr. (Admit it, we all find Chris Hemsworth hot.) Ryan sees Kayla and hallelujah, things are working again. wink wink nudge nudge

It turns out Kayla is exactly who he needs. She flat out calls him on using his injuries as an excuse and that he needs to accept his new reality and start moving on. Yes, it seems a little harsh, but he knows she's right. Oh, did I forget to mention Kayla is a child psychologist, specializing in children with deformities or terminal illnesses? Got you, Ryan. She can see right through you. Kayla looks at him and sees a sexy man that she's very attracted to. The prosthetic is a part of him, but it doesn't change him at all in her eyes.

As the evening draws to a close, Kayla is feeling the connection and loathes the idea of it ending, of never seeing Ryan again. But Ryan makes a couple statements that gives her the impression she's essentially a "stepping stone" for him to get back into the dating world, that he now knows he can handle dating again. Ouch. That would hurt.

Out of self-preservation, Kayla leaves as soon as Ryan falls asleep. You can't blame the girl for wanting to protect herself from disappointment. The thing is, Ryan did feel the same connection and wants to continue seeing her. Now Ryan just needs to find her.

Does Ryan find her? Was their one night the start of something beautiful, something lasting? Read the book and find out.

A Hero Scarred

Jessica's friend, Kayla, (remember her) is happily head over heels in love with Ryan and now wants everyone to be the same way. So she talks Jessie into a vacation on the island so she can relax and get away from the craziness that work has been lately and a little celebration now that her divorce from Dan "he's not the man" is final. Psst...Dan is a selfish jerk.

Matt, a friend of Ryan's, is visiting the couple on his own little vacation. Silly Matt really thinks Kayla will let go of her idea to set him up with her friend. But Matt is insecure and struggling with some issues due to his injuries. He wants the closeness Ryan and Kayla have found, but doesn't think he'll find a woman that can handle his situation.

Oh would you look at that...Matt and Jessie are here at the same time. "No, I didn't plan this at all," says Kayla. Teehee. "Nah, I'm lying. I totally set you two up." Kayla laughs evilly. Haha. Yeah, okay, Kayla didn't say either of those things, but I'm mentally imagining it. LOL The thing is, Matt and Jessie aren't really upset with her about it. They're both liking what they see. But when conversation turns to what they both do, Matt is expecting the usual response to his injuries. He doesn't get it. Jessie surprises him and he's not sure how to handle that. To Jessie, everyone has scars, some are just more visible than others. Preach it, sister.

After a very steamy encounter on the beach, they decide to continue their date in the bedroom. bow chicka wow wow But Matt still can't handle the thought of her seeing his scars and it's just too painful for Jessie and she leaves. Not just his room, like Matt thought. No, she leaves the island.

Will Ryan's talk with Matt make him see that Jessie isn't like everyone else? She won't freak out about his scars or pity him because of them. She works with Kayla, so they both see children who are suffering the same type of injuries or worse. Will Jessie give Matt a second chance? Will Matt be strong enough to show Jessie his scars? Nope, I'm not telling. Find out for yourself.

I received a copy in exchange for an honest review.

Ruth Hambley says

Excellent

Well written and thoroughly enjoyable to read. A terrific set of books. I hope she writes more in this series.

Linda Newbern says

It was a pleasant surprise to read these books. I always expect and receive the best from this author in the paranormal genre, but this box set just warmed my heart. Our returning wounded warriors have scars, either physically or mentally and I loved reading about these heroes and the women who loved them unconditionally. Thank you Milly Taiden for giving your readers the gift of these books.

Florence says

These are two incredible stories about two soldiers who come back from war scarred and uncertain about their future and two women emotionally scarred and doubtful that love with a good man exists ... But sometimes you just have to make a leap of faith and if you think this person could be the one you have to hold on and not let fear push you away...

Denise H. says

 Two terrific short stories of wounded warriors finding acceptance and love ! *****

A Hero's Pride

Wonderful short story of a wounded warrior who lost a leg, and a sweet lady who will love him for himself. Kayla, a Latin beauty, brown eyes, black hair, and charming. She works with young children in need. Ex-Special Forces, blonde, Ryan is home, readjusting to his new world minus his leg. He's self conscious, but Kayla makes him feel whole. Their romance is swift, with hot sexiness. Beautiful tale with great characters. Milly Taiden knows how to write a full bodied short story ! ENJOY !!

A Hero Scarred

Wow, very sexy story ! Matt and Jessica, wow! Matt is returned from war, a scarred man. Jessica is scarred inside by her horrible ex. Kayla sets them up for a blind date and the sparks fly. He's fearful of her reaction to his burn scars, and she's not sure she's ready for love again. They talk, kiss, and are deeply thoughtful characters, in an interesting tale, with super sexy hotness between the sheets. This tale is packed with emotion and acceptance.

Milly Taiden never disappoints. ENJOY !!
