BIG DOG & LITTLE DOG is a cute series from Dav Pilkey -- well known for his other series, Captain Underpants, Dumb Bunnies, Dragon, Ricky Ricotta.

These BIG/LITTLE DOG books though are at the Kindergarten reading level. The Lexile number for this book is AD50L and the Accelerated Reader number is 0.8.

The book has only 73 words and bright saturated colors.

This is a really nice book and one of the features that is nice about it are the activities at the end. There are 6 pages of intelligent and fun things for youngsters to do. There's a maze that will take the dogs to the skunk as well as Fun Facts which adults can read and share.

In addition there are pictures which are out of sequence and kids are challenged to put them in the right order. As well there is a Word Scramble and a Fill-in-the-Blank.

As far as the story it's a classic. Dogs see critter. Dogs decide it's a cat. Dogs find out it's not a cat. And in his trademark way Pilkey throws in a funny twist at the end.

So simple, so wonderful. One of the best narrative fiction series on board. Big dog is happy. Highly recommended for ages 1-3.

Cheryl says

Geez, might as well go back to Dick and Jane. Maybe as a board book for the tiniest it would be mildly diverting, but by the time a child is learning to read, even "Level 1," as this is labeled, they need a meatier story than this. I had higher hopes for Pilkey.

Crockett says

The big dog/little dogs books were my kids first/favorite stories. We had them all memorized for a while.

Becky says

I definitely enjoyed reading Dav Pilkey's Big Dog and Little Dog. It is newly published in early reader format. (The book was originally published in 1997. The end-of-the-book activities are brand new additions to the 2015 edition.)

In this early reader title, young readers meet Big Dog and Little Dog. The good news is that if little ones LOVE reading about Big Dog and Little Dog, this is the first in a series. There are PLENTY of other books to get them excited--to keep them excited and to keep them READING.

Here is how this one begins, "Big dog and Little Dog are hungry. Big Dog and Little Dog want food."

My favorite part, I must admit: "Big Dog gets in the big bed. Little Dog gets in the little bed. Big Dog is lonely. Little Dog is lonely, too." The illustrations tell the rest of the story!

I love it because it is simple and straightforward. And being simple does not in any way prevent it from being clever and funny and A STORY. The illustrations are bright and bold.

It is a charming book cover to cover.

I also appreciated the end-of-the-book activities. For example, one activity has young readers practice story sequencing and has them retelling the story.

Nam says

The Mad Libs part was fun. Using a random word generator, I got that the dog had to be murdered though... (Did not like that) It was right that the dog shouldn't eat men though. These are decent reading practice, but keep in mind that the age says 4-6. Most likely more challenging for the four side of the age limit.

Tyler Jones says

It is crucial that when a child is learning to read that they get positive reinforcement, so choosing books that challenge yet don't overwhelm young readers is crucial. I think this book is a good example of a first-step into reading book that should work well; the sentences are simple and are easily inferred by the illustrations, and the slightly silly ending is a pay-off. Included are few "skill-building activities" that help children learn how both sentences and stories are structured.

A cute Dav Pilkey story for young children. It was a bit young for my 6-year old daughter and 8-year old son, but I thought it was cute.

Jon(athan) Nakapala says

Very good book if you are trying to learn Spanish.

Stephanie Tournas says

Spanish/English bilingual text. One short, declarative sentence per page, in English in Spanish, describes daily life for two dogs, one big and one small. Pilkey's signature cartoons, with color, are paired with simple language for very beginning readers. Includes reading level information and "skill building activities".

My one gripe: the "Learning Nouns and Verbs" section at the end seems like kind of a bummer for kids who have just make it through their first book.

Laura (Madsen) McLain says

Funny stories about Big Dog and Little Dog, best pals and partners in crime.

Chris says

Stig loves this one and makes us read it over and over.
