Historical Paranormal Romance

Novella

Cupid's livid. It's bad enough he made two people fall in love, but now thanks to King Larus, the whole Immortal Realm knows about it. There's only one thing a troll can do. Get Revenge.

Lady Mina and her sister, Sophia, are impoverished, starving and their castle is crumbling around there feet. Their father is dead, the servants are gone and it's the dead of winter. Could things really get much worse?

After Cupid caused a great disruption amongst his lycans by bringing a human to their world, Larus has had to meet with the Council of Elders. He's made sure it will never happen again. Or so he thought. Hearing two women scream-one whose enchanted to be madly in love with him and one who wants nothing more than to claw his eyes out-he's quickly learning not to underestimate a troll bent on revenge.

Warning: This novella contains an unfamiliar Cupid, magic and mischief, graphic sexual content, adult language, violence, and some occasional grossness from a certain troll.

We met cupid in the original story. He has helped Rhiannon and Ilar fall in love...not only does that make him mad but the King of the Lycans...King Larus lets everyone in their realm know about it. He is forbidden to bring an enchanted woman back. However, nobody said anything about bringing over unenchanted ones. He finds 2 sisters...each as "hideous" as the next...at least according to cupid. Lady Mina and Lady Sophia are starving and their castle is crumbling around there feet. Their father and anyone who knows them is dead....killed by their King.

This time Cupid enchant Kind Larus but it didn't go according to plan and he only enchant one of the sisters in to falling for him. Again I could not stop laughing. Sibling rivalry, mis-communication and typical alpha male...afraid to tell the woman he loves he is a king..makes it a page turner.

Yummy Lycan Candy!

In book two of the Naughty Cupid series Cupid is HOT BLAZING MAD. His mission was to cause havoc and discourse for the Lycan community. He wound up with people falling in love. Now the magical realm/immortal world knows of his meddling. The elders, which include King Larus has banned Cupid from opening the portal and bringing mortals into their world. Seeking revenge, Cupid hatches another plan using two sisters. Lady Mina the dark haired older sister and her polar opposite Sophia blonde and a flare for adventure. With a Love Dart hitting the King anyone that looks upon him falls madly in love. Sophia is the lucky girl, but the King has his eyes set on Mina. This is a comical adventure with an introduction to some other wickedly delicious men, the King of the Vampires!!! A very good read and I would read these in order to get the full story. There are not cliffhangers, just very hot Lycans.

CUPID'S REVENGE:

Our naughty cupid is at it again. King Larus told the council of the little guy's actions between the mortal and immortal worlds. Word got around that he had made another match and he was ridiculed. Pay back is in order.

Back to the mortal realm for another mortal female to create havoc—heck, why not two? Sisters, abandoned by their noble society, they won't be missed. Enchanted, one fawns on him. The other wants to beat him. Guess who he wants? Of course nothing is easy, but it is a fun journey.

Throw in a vampire, loyal guards competing for attention, a wolf in wolf's clothing and that's just the beginning. Come along for that ride while I go on to see what the little nasty guy is up to in part three, Cupid's favor.

Loved the book. Cupid is funny as well as disgusting at the same time. Michelle Pillow did a wonderful job describing him & his actions. The story line has you laughing and crying along with the characters.

I was given this book by the author for an honest review in my own words. I was not compensated in any way.

After Cupid's revenge on Lord Ilar went wrong and he ended up happily mated to Rhiannon, King Larus ensured that the council knew of Cupid's misdeeds. Now Cupid requires that revenge is taken on King Larus as well. Travelling to the mortal world he encounters two impoverished sisters, Mina and Sophia. Taking them to the magic realm he enchants Larus so they will both love him, though only half of his curse works. With Sophia enchanted to love Larus madly, it is Mina that he is drawn to, and Mina feels the pull too...

I love this take on Cupid! He continues to completely misunderstand beauty and love, meaning that he accidentally keeps doing what he was teased about doing in the first place! I also really like the way that Cupid is basically described as absolutely disgusting, though thankfully it isn't mentioned that often!

The characters from the previous book, Cupid's Enchantment, are present quite a bit in Cupid's Revenge, which was interesting and it was good to have a catch up on Ilar and Rhianne. Larus himself was a character in the previous book, and having him expanded on was also a good thing. There also seemed to be a strong set up for the characters in the next book, Cupid's Favor, which will be interesting considering the personalities of the strong contenders for MCs!

The chemistry between Larus and Mina was there from the start, and interestingly, neither of them actually denied it at any point. Though it did take them a while to actually act on their attraction (cock-blocking sisters probably have that affect!) it still simmered there under the surface as well.

I also liked the introduction of a vampire character into the book. The Lycans and trolls had both been properly introduced in the previous book so some background was already there for them, though it was expanded upon more. Adding the vampires in expanded the world, and it has me intrigued as to the role they'll play in future.

This was a good, fun read! I'm looking forward to reading book 3!
