From Reader Review From The Wild for online ebook

While the writing is nice, there was not much length to the poems. This is personal opinion though because I tend to enjoy more in depth poems. The cover is quite lovey and the subjects of the poems are warm.

I got this book free through Goodreads giveaways.

I enjoyed this collection of poems. As soon as I received the book in the mail I had read it within an hour. While I didn't enjoy some of the poems that were in the book, the large majority of the poems I did like. Some of my favorites being: "Little Green Alien," "Mock Orange Evening," "Dreamy Duet," "November," "Through the Past," and "From the Wild." It was the perfect book to read on a cold November evening, on the eve of the first snowfall. From The Wild is a sweet, little collection of poems.

I love this wee, but mighty book of poems. I delve into it on a regular basis and I find different poems speak to me at different times. Whether that's just the end of a busy day or a grief stricken moment, each miniature gem provides relief. With the recent loss of my dad and on this particular re-read I especially enjoyed Time and Dreamy Duet made me cry! I know the author is also a painter and her writing certainly contains the immediacy of visual art. For someone who loves colour, this authors poems always bring me comfort and brighten my day.

Received this book free from GoodReads giveaways. These poems were beautifully written. It was like looking deep into someones mind. The writer is constantly digging deeper. She talks about every day things like changing weather, love, loss, dreams, rejection, etc. The poems are short and sweet. Would definitely love to read more poetry from this author.
